The screenshot shows the Panopto software interface for creating a new recording. The main window displays a preview of the recording setup. A red box highlights the "Secondary Sources" tab in the bottom-left corner of the preview window. A red arrow points from this box to the "Wolfvision UVC Camera" option listed under "Secondary Sources". Another red box highlights the "Video" and "Audio" settings at the bottom left of the main interface, which are set to "BisonCam, NB Pro" and "Microphone (USB2.0 1080p UVC Camera)" respectively. The "Quality" is set to "High" and "Capture Computer Audio" is checked. The "Secondary Sources" section also includes "Capture PowerPoint" and "Capture Main Screen" options, both of which are checked. At the bottom of the interface, there is a "Resolution" dropdown set to "1920 x 1080", an "fps" slider set to 24, and a "kbps" slider set to 2000.
